Years ago Dan co-owned a crafts store. One item they made was a wooden clock in the shape of a Teddy Bear. This song was written to accompany one of these clocks when given as a gift.

The Teddy Bear Clock calls to you
The Teddy Bear Clock calls to you

When you drift off to dream land, those you love tuck you in Pull the covers up under your chin.
Then the Teddy Bear Clock slips off the wall
To take you to lullaby land
And it's warm like an old friend who's taken your hand

Other children have nodded, off to dream land with you
Lots of playmates and so many fun things to do.
And the Teddy Bear Clock introduces them to you
And it feels like you've known them, all of your life
And it's warm like an old friend who's taken your hand.

Then you fly over mountains, swim with fishes in the sea
Anything your imagination wants to be
And the Teddy Bear Clock is your guide on this tour
Of fantasy and friendship with all of the world.
And it's warm like an old friend who's taken your hand.

Then the Teddy Bear Clock, takes you by the hand
And you know that it's time to leave lullaby land
Then the Teddy Bear Clock slips back on the wall,
And you wake to the sound of your family
And it's warm like an old friend who's taken your hand.
